CROSSFIELD—Under the leadership of Mrs. Wilda Charney the Junior and Senior chords held a recital June 22 in the United church. The recital dated back to the "Gay Nineties" and local talent was dressed for the occasion in beautiful old gowns, some of which neared the century mark, exquisite shawls, feathered fans and lovely old jewelry.

The Junior choir opened the program with "Daisy Bell." "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo," and "While Striding Through the Park One Day." The second item was a piano solo by Helen Edgar entitled "The Fairy Wedding." Following was a girls trio "Beautiful Brown Eyes" and "The Old Spinning Wheel" by a girls quartet.

"On Top of Old Smoky" by the Junior Choir was well received. Rosalyn and Russel Bills did a pleasing duet called "Little White Duck" which was followed by a group of modern favorites closely resembling Gay Nineties—"Sparrow in the Treetop," with Beverly and Pat doing the duet and "The Roving Kind" by two boys with top hats and moustaches. The lads were Russel Bills and Allan Kierlin and they drew a big hand from the audience.

Mrs. Charney played a piano solo, "Will We Meet." The gentlemen of the Senior Choir, R. Lilley, R. Ronneberg and T. Bland, assisted by Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Bell, also, drew great applause when they harmonized "In the Evening by the Moonlight" and "Home on the Range." A delightful solo "When You Were Sweet Sixteen," was sung by Joanne Copley.

The full Senior Choir rendered "Juanita" and "After the Ball," with a finale, assisted by the Junior Choir, of "Ta-ra-boom-de-ay."

A delicious lunch was served to the two choirs in the church parlor immediately after the program.

The groom was supported by his brother Rhea, and the guests were ushered by Ray Motley, the bride's brother.

The organist was Mrs. Whitaker, who supplied suitable wedding music and also accompanied Gilbert Hotzspiller who sang the lovely song "Because."

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church hall; the bride's table was centred with a lovely three-tier wedding cake, graced with pink tulle and flanked with lighted tapers.

Mrs. Motley and Mrs. Clayholt, mothers, received, both clad in navy blue costumes with pink accessories and corsages of pink rosebuds. The happy couple left for a week's honeymoon to Banff, Jasper and Edmonton. The bride's going away costume was of printed silk with teal blue coat, white accessories with gardenia corsage.

On their return they will reside in Madden.

Canadian Unity

This year Canadians from coast to coast are being asked to focus their attention for the week of June 24th to July 1st on the state of the nation's unity.

The idea of a Week of Canadian Unity has been conceived and is being sponsored by the French Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association and the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

Canadians have never been too conscious of their own unity, have been too prone to think of themselves in terms of the provinces in which they live, of the ethnic groups of which they are a part or of the language which they speak. Believing that Canada is more unified than Canadians realize, the two great newspaper associations are sponsoring this week to bring home to the people of this nation the fact of Canadian unity.

In any land as far flung as Canada there are bound to be sectional differences but the Canadian democratic way of life, the Canadian conception of freedom of the individual, Canadian pride in the achievements of this youthful nation surpass infinitely any differences that may exist.

Canadians do not know too well their own story and are better acquainted with the historical figures of Britain, France and the United States than they are with the great men of their own past. A quiz, for instance, on the Fathers of Confederation would keep most Canadians guessing.

If Canadian Unity Week accomplishes only two things—impresses Canadians with the astounding degree of unity achieved during the short 84 years since Confederation and convinces Canadians of the necessity of knowing each other better if the unity of the nation is to be strengthened—Canada's weekly newspapers association will have attained their objective.

Canadians must work at this task of strengthening the unity of the nation. It requires the best thought and effort of every citizen. It is a year round job.

On World Map

In July Rev. Fr. McGrane will set sail for England and France on board a trans-Atlantic steamer in company with four members of the Lac La Biche sea cadet corps. The boys will be good-will ambassadors for, not only Lac la Biche, but Alberta and Canada as well. They will proudly sail Exeter II along the rivers and canals of England, across the English Channel from the "White cliffs of Dover" and up the Seine to Paris.

Father McGrane, who has complete command of both English and French, is fittingly enough taking boys who represent four nationalities in his crew, representative of four races making up a good part of the population of cosmopolitan Lac la Biche. They are English, French, Ukrainian and Italian.

This event is unique for any Canadian town. It will bring international distinction to this growing community on the shore of "Lake of the Elk" in north-eastern Alberta—distinction citizens could not buy with any amount of money.

Ironie Iranian Crisis

The British government, beset by an unholy urge to socialize industry in the homeland, is in a funny position. It is disputing the right of another sovereign country to socialize its principal industry. Mr. Attlee and his government with one hand is restraining the British Conservative party from tearing down his socialization of British railways, iron and steel industries. And with the other hand he is trying to restrain Persia (Iran) from forcefully taking over its wealthy oil industry. At home in Britain the Labor party is socialist. But abroad in Iran it is a 53% capitalist shareholder in one of the world's most lucrative businesses.

We know perfectly well that Soviet Russia may gain control not only of the oil industry but of the whole country of Iran if the British are forced out. But how do the British socialists reconcile their domestic and foreign philosophies of government?

The Bible Says:

"Behold, the hour cometh, yea, is now come, that ye shall be scattered, every man to his own, and shall leave me alone; and yet I am not alone, because the Father is with me."—St. John, 17:32.

Divorce By Parliament

By T. W. PUE

During the past few weeks a great deal of attention has been paid to the matter of parliament, in Ottawa, having to concern itself with Divorce petitions coming from Quebec and Newfoundland. I have received an outline of the divorce situation from Senator Gershaw, who has been a member of the divorce committee for several years, and in the words of our own Alberta Senator, J. W. Stambaugh, "is well qualified to speak on the subject." These are Senator Gershaw's own remarks:

T. W. PUE

DIVORCE

"Many articles on divorce have appeared lately in various publications and there is a widely held view that the Canadian procedure is dealing with these unfortunate cases could be improved.

"An old Quebec law stated that marriage could be dissolved only by the death of one of the partners. This was confirmed by Confederation, so there are no divorce courts in Quebec. There are none in Newfoundland. In all the other provinces, the Supreme Courts have jurisdiction.

"An applicant for divorce from a province where there is no court dealing with divorce, can petition the high court of parliament for a relief.

"In Nova Scotia, cruelty is possibly a ground for divorce but in all other parts of Canada, Adultery is the only ground upon which a divorce is granted.

"In Eire and South Carolina there are no divorces, but most other countries recognize divorce for various causes. In New Zealand there are eleven grounds for divorce and, in U.S.A., a very undesirable situation of loose divorce laws seems to exist.

"Every divorce granted by the Canadian parliament means a special Act and goes through the regular procedure.

"Petitions are first referred to the Senate Committee. Witnesses are heard and barristers present the case as in a court of law. Any member of either House is welcome to attend these hearings.

"The children are always asked about but the committee have no power to enforce conditions regarding their care. A divorce does not relieve any parent of the legal duty of supporting a child, but if the parent is no good or disappears, laws cannot be effective. Many of the married people coming to the committee have no children. In other cases, the children have grown up or are well cared for by one parent or someone able to do it.

"The committee really go into the cases very thoroughly and the chairman is an experienced lawyer, so that the rules of evidence are observed. If the case is recommended—and a lot of them are not—the evidence is printed and every member of both houses get a copy. It is now a bill and must pass 3 readings in the Senate. Then it goes to the House of Commons where it must pass the 3 readings on different days and be investigated by the Private Bills Committee. This committee can call witnesses or hear argument by Counsel.

"A fee of $210.00 is charged but, in cases of people of low income, the fee is reduced sometimes to $50.00.

"Every one of these cases is a domestic tragedy. It is often said that divorce breaks up the home, but these homes are already broken—and badly broken—before a divorce is applied for. There are many very sad cases. There is cruelty, drunkenness, desertion and shame in many cases. The writer has urged that adultery should be a crime under the law, as it is a moral crime. In many cases, co-respondents will, under oath, say almost boastfully and without a blush of shame, that they have committed adultery with the respondent."

Senator Gershaw could not get any support for such a measure but there would be fewer divorces if adultery were punishable by law in all Canada, as it is in one province. Some get a divorce very easily by proving this crime, while others much more deserving cannot get relief from intolerable conditions.

The petitioner cannot get freedom if there is any collusion, condolence or connivance. These terms are always explained to the witness and efforts are always made to see if there is any chance of reconciling the parties who have strayed so far apart.

Such is Senator Gershaw's informative explanation of how Parliament handles divorce. The question remains with us: should our legislators continue to handle divorce cases? Or should a special National court be set up to do it?

Do you have the answer?

LIVING COSTS

Dear Sir—The cost of living index in Britain, for April, is up five points; in the States, up and up; in Canada, up only one-fifth of a point. Pass the salt, please!

Prairie farmers are to get six cents more for wheat (but still 34c below street price) so the bakers and millers are going to hike bread one cent per loaf, and flour 15 to 20 cents per sack.

Dear Sir—Your paper has lots of news on a wide variety of subjects, but the letters to the editor are the shoddiest feature of the entire paper. About one in 20 is worth printing, and probably about one in 20 of those printed is worth reading.

DRUNK TESTS

Dear Sir—I was sure pleased to hear of the federal government's decision to legalize chemical tests for drunkenness—it is the greatest single contribution to traffic safety since the introduction of the hydraulic brake. For once the police will definitely be able to determine whether a man is drunk. But there is one drawback to the new system. The tests are only optional—not compulsory. Let's hope Ottawa makes them compulsory.

MEDICAL SERVICE

Dear Sir—That new Trans-Canada Medical Service which Canadian doctors are launching as the answer to socialized medicine may go a long way. I really think that socialized medicine is faulty because people tend to abuse it. However, this is still a capitalistic country, and at least it's good to see the doctor's offering something better in the way of medical service. I contend that although there are many faults in our democracy, it is getting better all the time.

We plan to expand our campaign this year, and your continued support will be warmly welcomed.

Dear Sir—I noticed T. W. Pue's article, "Honesty in the Pulpit", in your paper and it seems to be ridiculous from a standpoint of modern thinking. I cannot see that the Rev. Berry is any more in a quandary than any other hard thinking Christian who is striving to understand the truth. Your statement that he does not believe the Bible is unfair and unworthy of you. Do you believe every last word that had been put in the Bible? Just because you may not believe every word would you like to have someone publish abroad that you disbelieved in the Bible?

Pulpwood Industry Brings Prosperity To Northern Alberta Lumber Districts

A new kind of boom is bringing prosperity to the Alberta Northland, and there's every indication the boom will continue.

Millions of dollars are being spent in the Lac la Biche area as sales of pulpwood to United States paper manufacturers goes on apace.

Entire settlements are being revitalized by the new pulpwood industry. And it's an industry that every man can get into.

Box cars are being loaded daily to be shipped south on the Northern Alberta Railways. From Edmonton they are transferred to other rail lines, and find their way into the U.S., bound for paper plants.

DEAD TREES USED

Only dead fire-killed trees are being bought as they are dry and light in weight.

If cutting of live trees took place it would require one year's drying before shipment could be made. This would require more capital than is apparently available—and the demand in a year might go down.

One buyer of pulpwood said his company had spent $30,000 in one remote district — the Kikino colony. Thousands of dollars are being poured into every district, and trappers, farmers, and loggers are all being kept busy supplying pulpwood to the many buyers.

Liquor and beer sales—always a good barometer of prosperity—

ALTA. STILL IMPORTS OIL

CALGARY, Alta. — (BUP) —The Canadian version of carrying coals to Newcastle could well be bringing oil to Alberta.

Union Oil of California did just that, by moving into the oil lubricants sales field in the province. The first shipments were distributed by independent dealers throughout the province.

have risen sharply in the district recently.

The increased prosperity has spread throughout the entire district, and signs of it are noticeable everywhere.

Alberta Oil Output Shatters Records

A daily average Alberta crude production of 165,724 barrels for the week ended June 11, broke the previous record by more than 13,000 barrels daily. The previous record was 152,850 barrels daily during the week ended May 21.

The record production was up 50,000 barrels daily from the previous week ended June 4, when production was 115,928 barrels.

The increased production resulted from an increased conservation board allowable — 156,120 barrels daily for June against 142,530 barrels daily for May. Production came from 2,307 wells, an increase of 20 over the previous week.

MENACING forest and brush fires broke out in northern Alberta this week as the sequel to a period of extremely hot weather. Crews were rushed into the Peace River country to battle the outbreaks. Dull weather and some rain aided the fire-fighters and most blazes are now under control.

Veteran Had Broken Back Doctors Just Tested Head

An Alberta war veteran who suffered eight years of agony is now on the road to recovery after having known pain, poverty and shame.

After he floated down on Sweden one dark night in 1943, Warant Officer Harry Alberta Read of the RCAF wrapped himself in a parachute and went to sleep, happy to have survived the night fighter attack over Berlin.

But Read, a native of Medicine Hat and now living at Vancouver, had no idea of the future he faced.

LIVED IN PAIN

Since that day he has been in pain almost all his waking hours. He has been poor because he hasn't been able to hold a job, and his gratuity cheques have long since disappeared.

After a six months' internment in Sweden, Read was shipped back to England, and then to Canada, where he was discharged at Ottawa.

Just before his discharge, Read began to suffer severe pains. His head would often twitch, and he often had to grab the left hand lapel of his tunic with his teeth to keep his head from flopping over to his right side. After his discharge, he got worse. Often his wife had to dress him.

All this time the doctors told him his trouble was only imaginary. Read lived with the fear his trouble lay in his mind, not in his body.

That's what the doctors told him. It's your mind and not your twisted body. They told him he would never get well until he forgot about his imaginary ill.

This mistaken diagnosis was kept alive until he was finally X-rayed this spring in a Vancouver hospital. The X-ray revealed he had a broken back.

The matter was brought to light in the House of Commons last week when John Blackmore, Social Credit member for Lethbridge, charged that Read suffered "a most regrettable miscarriage of justice" at the hands of the Department of Veterans Affairs.

Oil Industry To Get Steel Supplies

Alberta's oil industry eventually will get its steel from a federal official told Edmonton construction men.

Donald C. Beam, construction adviser for the steel division of the Department of Defence Production, said: "The oil industry wants 150,000 tons of steel. They won't get it right away because we haven't enough to give them. But they'll get it in time because they are rated (priority) jobs and it is the steel division's job to get them."

The official said the steel shortage and restrictions on non-essential building would last until the United States has completed its defence preparations.

X-ray pictures to test metals can be taken at a speed of 100 per second.

LETTER TO LOUISA

Lonesome Reader Looks For Someone To Write To

A reader says he is lonesome and would like to write to someone and get letters from them, but as he doesn't sign his name we do not know who he is.

There are many lonesome people in the world but this column does not pass on names even if we have them. The reason for this is that some unscrupulous people might take advantage of such a service to get others into trouble and there was a staff available for screening undesirable correspondents we feel that more harm than good would be the result.

DEAR LOUISA

I have a friend who talks incessantly whether she had anything to say or not. If someone else is talking, she interrupts the conversation, even if what she has to say has nothing to do with the subject.

We like this girl and she has many fine traits but this habit of hers is getting on all of our nerves.
We hate to hurt her feelings but what can we do about it?

A Friend.

Answer:

I suppose your friend is simply a grown up child still trying to attract attention. Just like some children will be bad, if other things fail, in order to be noticed, some grown ups will do anything to be the centre of attraction. They are usually people who as children, were accustomed to "showing off"
and cannot bear to take a back seat now even for a short while.

I do not know what you can do about such a friend. She is certain to hold a grudge against whomever tells her of this fault and anonymous letters are cowardly things.

You might suggest a rule for your group of a penalty for those who interrupt conversations. This may be hint enough to show her up a bit.

LOUISA.

Former Crossfield Couple Celebrate Anniversary

CROSSFIELD—Several families consisting of O'Neils, Foxes, Lilleys, Edmunds and I. Lauts, motored to Calgary on Sunday noon, June 24, to participate in a gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merl Jones, formerly of Crossfield, who were celebrating their 20th wedding anniversary.

Between forty and fifty well wishers attended from various parts of the city and province and a most sumptuous luncheon was enjoyed by all in the spacious rumpus room. The Crossfielders left a little gift with their best wishes for continued happiness and health of the honored couple.
